ACT 1

Our story opens as the villagers are excitedly preparing for a festival. One of the loveliest girls in the village, Swanhilda, joins her friends as they look for her beau, Franz. Swanhilda spurns Franz after she observes him flirting with a “girl” in Dr. Coppelius’ window. Franz admires her friends as they dance the Mazerka. The festivities continue with the Czardas dance. Franz and his rowdy friends spy Dr. Coppelius and taunt the old man, causing him to drop his house key. Swanhilda and friends find the dropped key. Later that evening, Swanhilda and her friends sneak back to Dr. Coppelius’ house, to confront the “girl” that has captured Franz’ affections.

Inside the house, Swanhilda and her friends discover Dr. Coppelius’ magical dolls. Their play is interrupted as Dr. Coppelius comes home and finds them. He joins Dr. Coppelius, and declares his intention to make Coppelia his wife. The two men sit down for a toast and the devious Coppelius drugs the unwitting young man. Dr. Coppelius has always dreamed about bringing his doll to life and sees an opportunity. He goes to fetch the doll, and unbeknownst to him, Swanhilda has taken her place!
